Poor Response Retards Service Fund Campaign

Progressive Campbell BPW Club Joins Nation In Business Women's Week

Business and Professional Women's Club members in Campbell will join with the 150,000 members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., in the 22nd annual observance of National Business Women's Week, October 9 to 15.

Although organized little over a year ago, in May, 1948, the local club may well be proud of its record of community service and its program of helping to make democracy work at home.

First meeting of the original group was held May 26, last year. Thirty-two charter members constituted the Campbell BPWC when the charter was issued on August 13, 1948, and Lela Swasey, then state president of the Federation of BPW clubs, presented the charter to the group at its September meeting. Winifred Goodell was the first president of the new organization.

COMMUNITY BETTERMENT

Now grown to a membership of 45, the Campbell Club has already become an active force in the betterment of this community. Their first completed project was the raising of $300 for blind aid through the Rose Resnick concert held at the Campbell High School auditorium on June 24.

Next project, begun in April and brought to a successful climax on the evening of September 9, was their drive to raise $3000 to purchase and install lighting for night softball games at the Campbell Grammar School field. Funds were raised through contributions of individuals, organizations and business houses, and a community carnival arranged by the BPW and held at the carnival grounds July 8 and 9. The completed lighting installation was dedicated at night ceremonies September 9, when the BPW turned over the field to the newly-formed Campbell Softball Association. The fund raised by the BPW to date lacks some $500 of the original goal of $3000, and it is hoped that voluntary subscriptions will provide that needed $500.

The Campbell club is now busy at its new task of organizing clubs in two nearby communities. The local group was sponsored by the Los Gatos club.

Present officers of Campbell BPWC are: Gwendolyn Steindorf, president; Cecile Schad, vice-president; Alleen Cowdery, treasurer; Irene Hodges, recording secretary; Alma Fanning, corresponding secretary; Alma Fanning, corresponding secretary; Thelma Solari, auditor; Emily McConnell, parliamentarian; Winifred Goodell, Azalea Shaw, and Mary Gray, directors.

2500 CLUBS

Although organized on a national level, the foundation of the national federation of BPW clubs is to be found in the home towns of its 2500 clubs, from coast to coast and in Alaska and Hawaii, where members have assumed a large share of the responsibility of preserving and developing the fundamental democratic ideals which they believe to be the source of Americanism at its finest.

Republican Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine applauded the theme for this year's National Business Women's Week. "Boost Your Town—It Boosts You," because it epitomizes a fundamental element of America's greatness—strong civic spirit. America cannot continue to provide the leadership that the world needs unless our local communities, our home towns, produce men and women leaders.

"Our homes are what we make them," said Senator Smith. "Our towns are but a community of our homes. But merely because we maintain fine and wholesome homes does not automatically guarantee that our towns will be fine and wholesome.

"We must extend our interests and efforts beyond the walls and fences of our homes. The very first place that we can extend our interest is to our neighbors. Together with our neighbors we should have a mutual interest in community affairs. That means our town.

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY

Organized in July, 1919, shortly after the close of World War I, the national federation is, and has been from its beginnings, a non-partisan, non-sectarian, self-governing organization whose chief objectives are: to encourage a comradely relationship among business and professional women; to inform them of civic and national questions, and to awaken them to a sense of citizenship responsibility. As a result of these aims, the members have taken active, leading roles in such community enterprises as the establishment of public parks and playgrounds, libraries, museums, baby clinics, nursery schools and vocational guidance agencies. Nationally their support has been given to broad-gauged and progressive legislation.

The organiaztion is playing an active part in development of opportunities for the career women of the future, and seeks to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions and to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial scientific and vocational activities.

From its early days, the federation has been interested in higher standards of education for the prospective business or professional woman. It has established scholarships totalling some $350,000, through which hundreds of ambitious young women have been given thorough training before entering a business career.

DIGNITY OF WORKERS

Much has been done by the nationoal and local groups to emphasize the dignity of women workers through the National Busniess Women's Week, established in 1928 and observed annually since then. This observance, focusing attention upon the contribution of business and professional women to the community, state and nation, has acquired such status that in many states it is initiated yearly by gubernatorial proclamation.

Formation of the national federation, planned as a war measure in 1918, marked the first effort to utilize the untapped reservoir of power represented by the women workers of the country. It was the motivating force in formation of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women in 1930. Following close of World War II, the organization has been faced with the tremendous problem ofreviving and reorganizing the International Federation which suffered a tremendous setback in Europe under the dictators' reginmes. Since democratic ideals play a major role in the scope of the federation program, the national group has placed particular emphasis on organization of clubs in Germany where the women had been denied the right to continue their organizational program under the Nazi regime.

The federation maintains headquarters in New York City where a large and competent staff safeguards the interests of its far-flung membership. From the beginning it has taken an active part in civic and national affairs, and its aptitude for service in this field was recognized through an invitation extended to its representatives by the U. S. Department of State to participate actively in the San Francisco Conference in 1945 at which the Charter of the United Nations was drafted.

Program of the federation extends into the entire field of business and professional activities, covering education, vocational counsel, legislation, public affairs and a wide range of related interests.

BPW Broadcast

A documentary program, "Lonesome Lady", will be broadcast from coast to coast this Sunday from 12:30 to 1 p.m. over the NBC network in honor of National Business Women's Week. All local Business and Professional Women's club members and others interested are urged to tune in.

Interesting experiences related to his work which consists of scouting games for San Jose State College were related by Bob Bronzan, line coach for San Jose State, at Tuesday's meeting of the Campbell Kiwanis Club.

Laurance J. Hill, chairman for the day, introduced the speaker, whose topic was "Football Prospects for the Season." Bronson reviewed past games and prospects for the Season." Bronzan future for the year. Also guest speakers were Bill Perry, head football coach, and Bert Robinson, assistant football coach of Campbell High school. Robinson spoke briefly on the general set-up of the local team, and Perry made a more detailed report on ability of the individual players. In particular he praised a better school spirit noticeable this year.

The team will meet the Washington High school squad from Centerville this afternoon at the local field and the coaches hope for another victory from the defending champs of the SCVAL.

Other visitors at the meeting were Fred Brandford, San Marino; William Capener, Los Gatos, and Charles Crooke, Mountain View.

Miss Jeanette Collins will tell of her European vacation at the next Kiwanis meeting. C. P. Klassen will be the chairman.

Housing Session

American Veterans Committee, San Jose Chapter 1, will sponsor a public meeting on city housing at the San Jose civic auditorium, October 13 at 7 p.m.

Partial Returns Show $1,517.80 Of $7800 Quota Is Subscribed

Although success of the pre-drive campaign among Campbell merchants sent the Campbell Community Service fund off with an advance subscription of $1048, poor response from the residents has apparently bogged the drive down to a slow walk. Expectations are that the volunteer workers will be canvassing their districts far longer than the originally announced one-week campaign period.

Partial returns released by Mrs. J. W. Knowles, drive chairman, show only $1,517.80 has been subscribed, a far cry from the drive quota of $7800.

Donations to the drive will enable the following participating groups to continue their youth and community service work: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, YMCA, School Milk Fund, Library Fund, Scout Hall Association and Visiting Nurse Association.

RUDE RECEPTION

Many workers reported they were given rude receptions at the houses in their districts. Some women slammed doors in their faces. Others didn't answer the doorbell, although they were obviously home. In some instances, workers reported they could hear radios playing in the houses when they rang the doorbells, but the radios were hastily shut off and occupants of the houses could be seen or heard walking softly about inside.

"After all," said Mrs. Knowles, "such ill bred behavior is uncalled for. These solicitors are leading members of the community who have volunteered their time, who spend precious gallons of gasoline to go out and do this community service work. All the workers have given more than generously. They receive no pay for their work. The rudeness exhibited by some of the people on whom they call is certainly undeserved."

In contrast to the door-slamming type of citizen, Mrs. Knowles cited the case of one elderly woman whose husband is seriously ill and whose predicament would have been understood had she declined to give. On the contrary, she gave the worker a dollar and apologized for being unable to give more.

Of the $1,517.80, a large part of this was subscribed by the business houses. Returns by districts are as follows: Hamilton, $89; San Tomas, not reported; Campbell, Moreland, $23.50; Moorpark, $122.40; Cambrian, $104.90.

Fire Damages Furnishings Of Teachers' Room

Fire which started in cushions of an upholstered settee ruined the settee, a rug and rug pad in the teachers' room at Campbell Grammar school early Thursday morning.

Merchant Patrolman Robert Locke discovered the fire at 2 a.m. and notified William C. Henley, Campbell Elementary School District Superintendent. Henley and Locks extinguished the fire before it could do further damage.

There was no damage to the building. The room has a concrete floor and concrete walls.

Locke told Henley a light had been left burning in the building, and he saw haze in the school corridor. When he investigated, he discovered the haze was smoke.

Henley said the fire must have started after the custodians went off duty at 11 p.m. Wednesday. Had the light been off as usual, said the district superintendent, the fire might not have been discovered until much later. There was no estimate of damage.

NETOPS COUNCIL BEGINS ITS FOURTH YEAR WITH DOUBLE ITS CHARTER MEMBERSHIP

Netops Council, Degree of Pocahontas, instituted in Campbell on June 25, 1946, with 33 charter members, is preparing this month a new class of candidates for membership in anticipation of the November 25 visit of the Great Pocahontas of California, Mary Hamilton. Already with double the original 33 members, the Council is conducting a drive for more members.

The local organization set a record after its institution by being the first council able to form a degree team, have all suits and paraphernalia made and ready to go on the floor in less than five months. First Pocahontas of the Council was Sharon Parker, now First Great Runner. Irene Hodges was the First Wenonah.

Although the council as a member of the Degree of Pocahontas, has three main objectives—Freedom, Friendship and Charity—its main field of endeavor is that of child welfare. The members have participated in local carnivals which were money-raising events for child aid and recreation; it contributes funds to child welfare work, and to partial support or defrayment of medical expenses for those children of its own members who are temporarily in need.

In addition to the welfare work, the friendship theme is carried out at the regular semi-monthly meetings, at social barbecues and other such events. The members participate in patriotic parades, and carry on work in committees aimed at preserving the freedom of the United States of America and of its millions of citizens.

Officer elections are held in June and December for all offices with the exception of desk chief, which is a one-year elected post filled each June. Within the council are two other clubs which hold separate meetings: Sequoia Sewing Circle which meets on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 8 p.m. in members' homes, with Vivian Johnson as president; Past Pocahontas Club, Sharon Parker, president, now with a membership of seven, which meets the first Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in members' homes. Netops Council, itself, holds meetings at 8 p.m. on the second and fourth Fridays of the month at the Campbell IOOF Hall

Plans are now underway to repeat the first annual open air adoption ceremonies held last year in the big trees opposite Chemeketa Park. Degree work is accomplished with no musical accompaniment except that of tom-toms.

Officers elected in June were: Margaret Benton, Prophetess; Vivian Johnson, Pocahontas; Alma Fanning, Wenonah; Tommy Blackmun, Powhattan; Sharon Parker, Keeper of Records; Helen Hallar, Collector of Wampum; Gail Plymale, Keeper of Wampum; Ruth Livingston, Musician; Bill Hindle, Third Trustee; Mary Gray, First Trustee.

Appointive stations: Mary Amstutz, Guard of the Forest; Mary Baldanzi, Guard of the Tepee; Rose Costa, First Scout; Nell Franzen, Second Scout; Esther Powell, First Aide; Ella Whittaker, Second Aide; Dorothy Jetton, First Councillor; Vesta Mancuso, Second Councillor; Irene Hodges, First Runner; Mary Gray, Second Runner; Harriet Thoms, Leila Thoms, Florence Wisler and Anna Mae Pereira, Warriors; Ruth Livingston, Escort Team Captain; Russie Fulton, Membership.

One of the important Netops activities in developing the tradition of America is the presentation of "The Building of the Flag," a patriotic pageant which has been presented by Netops at Campbell High School and at Cowell Grove near Felton.

HISTORY OF ORDER

According to a history of the degree prepared in 1945 by Past Great Pocahontas Julia Arbini, Great Council of California, "the name of the degree is taken from the celebrated character in Indian history, 'Pocahontas', whose brief but glorious life presents a touching and beautiful picture of grace, beauty and virtue. In the Degree of Pocahontas, of necessity, the ideal Indian Princess has been exemplified. The legend of Pocahontas and the virtues of her life have been taken as a basis for the ideal ceremony used by the degree."

The Degree of Pocahontas, an auxiliary to the Improved Order of Red Men, is a fraternal, benevolent and charitable organization founded February 28, 1887. The first known charter was granted the Red Men, October 14, 1883, but "it was not until September 1885, during the Great Council Session held at Elmira, New York, that positive action was taken and legislation adopted which permitted the establishment of Councils of the Degree of Pocahontas. At this session rules and regulations were adopted to go into effect on and after January 1, 1886, under which Councils of the Degree of Pocahontas could be organized. At the following session of the Great Council of the United States, held at Detroit in 1886 , a ritual was presented and adopted.

"The legislation was taken upon recommendation of the Great Council of Massachusetts, in whose reservation an organization had been in existence for two years, known as Pocahontas Council No. 1, of Marblehead, Mass. Immediately after the promulgation of the rituals governing the degree, this organization was transformed into a council of the Degree of Pocahontas.

The first council of the Degree of Pocahontas, instituted under the legal and recognized laws of the Great Council of the United States, was Wenonah Council No. 1, of Philadelphia, Pa., whose Council Fire was lighted on the 28th Sleep of Cold Moon, GSD 396 (February 28, 1887).

"Although an auxiliary organization, the Degree of Pocahontas transacts all of its own business and holds its Great Council Session once each year, where the laws of the year are made.

Membership of the degree includes both sexes. Male members must be Red Men who have been exalted to the chief's degree and in good standing in their tirbes. Female candidates must be well recommended and not under 16 years of age. Other requisites are the the candidate be a white citizen of good moral character, in good health and a U. S. citizen.

As a fraternal order with patriotic and charitable programs, the degree pledges its loyalty 100 percent to the United States of America. Americanism is the keynote of the degree, but neither it nor the Red Men administers an oath or binds its members to any religious or political creed. As a pre-requisite to membership, the degree demands a firm belief in the Great Spirit, God.

Claiming the distinction of being America's oldest patriotic fraternity in existence, and founded upon manners, traditions, and customs of the Indians of the western world, the order adopted unique figures of speech which are transmitted with historical accuracy. The order is active wherever the American Flag flies, and has adopted a pledge to the Flag which is incorporated as a part of the ritualistic ceremonies of the opening and closing of council sessions.

Its motto is "Freedom, Friendship and Charity."

The Degree of Pocahontas and the Improved Order of Red Men has a membership of over 154,793 and over 2,328 local councils and tribes.

Pocahontas, an Indian word meaning tomboy, was given the Indian maiden by her father because she was so fond of boys' play. Her real name was Matoaka, meaning Little Snow Feather. She was a member of the Wa-hun-son-a Cook Tribe of which her father was chief. This tribe was a part of the Great Algonquin Indian nation.

Pocahontas was born in what is now called Virginia in 1595. Most school students are familiar with the part she played in the rescue of Captain John Smith from the hands of her father, Chief Powhatan. Captain Smith was captured by the Indians while he was searching for Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America and stolen by the Indians. At 12 Pocahontas defied her father, and it was believed that God had created her for the special purpose, to help the white man establish himself on the North American continent.

She was 17 when Smith left the colony and the Indians, becoming offended, refused food to the whites, Pocahontas was taken from her people and held as a hostage to force her father into a peace treaty with the colonists. It was then that she met and fell in love with young John Rolfe, an Englishman of education and good family. During the month of April, 1613, she was given in marriage by Chief Powhatan, and the story goes that all her brothers and sisters and all her forest maidens were present, bedecked in plumage of birds and the simple beadwork of their people.

The ceremony was performed by the church at an improvised altar under the trees. Pocahontas learned the language and ways of her husband's people and in 1616 she went to England with him where she was presented at Court and was known as Lady Rebecca. While in England she gave birth to a son. She remained in England for about a year, and when on the point of returning to Virginia with Rolfe and her small son, she became ill and died in June, 1617. She was 22 years old when she died and was buried in the parish churchyard at Gravesend, near London, Her son, Thomas Rolfe, later became a man of distinction in Virginia, and his descendants are found among the most honorable citizens of that commonwealth.

The CAMPBELL Register

DR. JACK HALDEMAN, Colonel in the United States Public Health Service, flew in from his station at Anchorage, Alaska, on Tuesday to spend a night with his uncle and aunt, MR. and MRS CARL B. FIELD, before going on by air Wednesday to Washington, D.C.

Formerly the Pacific Coast representative of a firm which manufactures blueprint machinery, RAY DAVIS of 198 N. Carlyn Avenue, is now owner of the Pacific Blueprint company, 509 W. Santa Clara Street, as of September 15. Mr. Davis, who studied engineering, came here with his family from Los Angeles two years ago. The two children, Joan and John, are students at Campbell Grammar school. Mrs. Davis is a member of the Country Woman's Club and Campbell Garden Club. The Davis family came west from Rochester, New York.

MR. AND MRS. MAX W. MERCER will head east to Detroit, Michigan, on or about October 15 to pick up a new Packard automobile. They plan to be gone on an extended vacation and will probably not return until the Christmas holidays. They will stop in Niagara Falls, then head south for a rambling tour of the country.

MR. AND MRS. DALE HANSEN returned Monday evening after spending a week at Coronado. Mr. Hansen is head of the San Jose office of the New York Life Insurance company.

He fell from a six-foot ladder, landed on his head on the cement patio floor, then got up and walked away, slightly groggy. Not until nearly a week later did two-and-a-half year old George Egling, Jr's parents learn that their son had suffered a fractured skull in the accident. The lad is doing well at home where he plays about the house as usual. MR. AND MRS. GEORGE T. EGLING, the boy's parents, believe their youngster has an extremely hard head. Ten minutes after the fall, the boy seemed to have recovered, and returned to his play. Later in the week the Eglings noticed a swelling between skull and scalp and consulted a doctor who advised X-rays. Not until they heard the X-ray report did they know that George Jr. had a fractured skull. The doctor said there were no bone splinters and no blood clots inside and let the boy return home with his parents.

DON V. LUKEHART of Hazel Avenue, who has been seriously ill in a San Jose hospital for 12 days, returned to his Campbell home Monday, well on the way to recovery. During his stay in the hospital, Mr. Lukehart received six blood transfusions. He reports he is doing well and will return to his insulation business in a couple of weeks.

New residents in Campbell next week will be MR. AND MRS. A. GEREVAS, formerly of Oakland. Mr. Gerevas is the brother of Mr. Cel Gerevas, and will join him at the Campbell Hardware store, beginning Monday. Mrs. Gerevas is a native of San Francisco and her husband is originally from Fairfield.

ATTORNEY MARTIN WLASH suoke Wednesday night before the Mountain View Grange. His subject was "California's Admission to the Union."

MRS. MAY PASTERNAK and daughter have arrived from Chicago and plan to make their home in Campbell. At present they are staying with Mrs. J. W. Silberbauer and Mrs. A. Bykowski

Not only did they root for the losing team, but, to add injury to insult, they were the victims of an attack by unfriendly forces on the losers' home grounds. Staunch Stanford supporters Ollie Jensen, D. H. Cramer, Bobby Jo Field, Carl Field, Jean Jensen and La Vern LaMar, three of them still nursing their injuries, witnessed the Indian defeat at the hands of the Michigan onslaught Saturday, then piled glumly into their car to head for home. On the way out of the parking grounds, the car drove over a hornet's nest. In short order the Campbell sextette were taking the count in the face of a flying wing formation.

ANDY SANTANA and FRANK ACCARDI recommend that when attending Stanford football games, especially when supporting the opposing team, the fan should hire a guide to direct him to and from the stadium. It appears that Santana, Accardi and Newt Lehman of the Orchard City Creamery attended the Michigan-Stanford contest last week and on leaving the stadium Lehmann became separated from his companions and, unable to find the car, had to resort to bus transportation back to Campbell.

E. J. Kaffers Observe Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin John Kaffer of Campbell celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Monday.

Mr. Kaffer, who was born in Burlington, Iowa, married Rosemary Geis of Salina, Kansas, in the latter city, and the Kaffers resided there for 21 years until they moved to Hollywood. In 1927 theymoved to San Jose. Sixteen years later they established their present ranch home in Campbell.

Eight children were born to the couple, seven of whom are living. Six of the Kaffers' children were present at the celebration Monday. Two of the Kaffers' daughters are serving in religion: Sister Rosemary of the Holy Family Sisters, presently doing missionary work at Honokau, Hawaii, and Sister Rosemary of the Dominican Order, a teacher at Flintbridge Sacred Heart Academy at Pasadena. The other two daughters, Mrs. H. N. Schindler and Mrs. D. J. Stevenson, live in Oakland and San Francisco, respectively

Of the Kaffers' sons, William J. lives in San Jose, Edwin and Charles live with their parents.

The golden wedding celebration took place at Mass in St. Lucy's Church. R. Rev. Monsignor William M. Burke was the celebrant. Two grandsons of the couple were the servers. The Rev. Denis Kennelly, pastor, conveyed the message of Pope Pius, the apostolic blessing sent through the apostolic delegate in Washington, D. C., also the felicitations of the Most Rev. John J. Mitty, Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco.

Works of Great Painters Discussed By D. B. Livingston at Country Club

Works of the great painters and reasons why their individual paintings are beautiful or of particular interest were discussed Monday before the Campbell Country Woman's Club by Diana B. Livingston of The Old Church antique shop in Saratoga, a former artist at the Harvard University Medical School.

Mrs. Ralph H. Hyde introduced the speaker who opened her talk on "Beauty In Art" by touching briefly on the arts of the preceding centuries. She told of the awakening, throughout Europe, from the so-called Dark Ages into the Renaissance. "This period," she said, "was characterized by the works of the Spiritual Painters—Giovanni Cimabue (1240), Giotto, the devout Fra Angelico, Fillipo Lippi, the great Michaelangelo and the superb colorist Titian, who turned from the scriptural subjects to the gorgeous mythological figures of an earthy type which, by this time, were demanded by the wealthy merchant princes of Venice.

"During practically the same period the northern countries were producing great art, turning somewhat from the glorification of the church to the glorification of the home and the life of the farm and fields. Leading northern painters of the era were Peter Paul Rubens, Rembrandt, Vermeer, Van Dyck and a host of others.

"Portraiture was taking its place, the courts of Henry the Eighth and Charles Second encouraged Holbein and Van Dyck, giving us charm and beauty and a knowledge of the life of those periods."

Then, Mrs. Livingston told her listeners, "the artists took us out of the church and home, into the out of doors, the sunshine and shadows. These were the Impressionists: Corot, Monet, Manet and, in the latter part of the 19th century the great artist and teacher Jean Millet was born. You can read in his pictures his effort to remind us of the people on whom all society is founded—"The Gleaners," "The Man With The Hoe," "The Angelus" and the "Little Girl in the Cottage Door" with her bowl of bread and milk."

Mrs. Livingston ended her talk with a little personal story connected with the Whistler painting of his mother.

The speaker illustrated her talk by exhibiting copies of the paintings she discussed.

Also on the program were musical numbers by Soprano Aileen Ciraulo who sang "Phyllis Has Such Charming Grace," Lane Wilson, and "There is A Ladye," Winifred Bury, and Lorraine Wood, pianist, played "Etude On Black Keys," Chopin, and "March" from "The Love of Three Oranges," Prokofieff.

Masses of greenery accented by large pink dahlias and smaller pompom dahlias were used in the decor for the meting. Mrs. Ray Wood, committee chairman, was assisted by Mesdames R. M. Magnuson, Franklin Blaine, G. W. Burrow, R. H. Hyde and Rex Saunders.

At the next meeting, October 17, the Country Woman's Club will have its annual library tea which is open to the public. There will be a silver offering for the purpose of buying books for the Campbell library. The hour will be 2:45 p.m. in the clubrooms.

Trade Pants For Dress At Sale

Mr. William DeZeeuw Bagchus (Dutchy) who has been living in Campbell for the past few months, has been busy collecting clothes to ship to Holland. He was luckier in this respect than he he expected and has now a stack of clothes on hand that will "ruin him if he has to pay the freight charges."

He therefore hit upon the idea to sell part of his stock, in order to raise the postage, while on the other hand he invites Campbellites to exchange their men's, children's and baby clothes, of which he is short, for dresses, skirts and other things, of which he has too many.

The sale and clothing-exchange starts Friday in the Currie building and will last until the amount needed is reached.

Facts and figures on sewerage facilities in County Sanitation District Four, and purpose of the $1,640,000 bond issue which residents of the district will consider at the November 8 election have been released by the District Four information office at Los Gatos. The statement follows:

Sanitation District No. 4 includes the residential towns of Los Gatos, Campbell and Saratoga and part of the business district of Burbank. It contains about 20,000 acres and is populated by about 22,500 persons who occupy over 6000 homes in the area.

The present practices of sewage disposal in Santa Clara County Sanitation District No. 4 are unsatisfactory and constitute a menace to public health. The district must be provided with adequate facilities if residential development of the area is not to be further retarded.

State and Federal laws prohibit pollution of coastal waters. To comply with the County master plan it will be necessary to construct sewage treatment facilities at Alviso before these wastes can be discharged into San Francisco Bay. Failure to follow a comprehensive plan providing for the needs of the area for a reasonable future period will result in haphazard, unsatisfactory development of the area. Additional capacity in the trunk sewers for future development of the area can best be provided (economically) in the initial construction whereas construction of additional capacity at a later date would be costly and uneconomical.

The proposed trunk sewers for District No. 4 follow the master plan for the County as outlined in the Hyde-Sullivan report of July 31, 1946.

The proposed trunk sewer lines will be about 33 miles in length and will consist of pipe sizes ranging from 8 to 21 inches. The recommended plan provides for construction of trunk sewers throughout the District in such locations that only relatively short collection sewers will be required to connect any property within the district.

Collection sewers are to be constructed in all presently developed areas to serve individual properties. These cannot be constructed with general obligation bonds of the district but some form of assessment proceeding may be used for their construction.

There will be approximately 450 brick masonry manholes constructed along the trunk sewer lines. There will be 14 street crossings and three railway crossings. When sewers must be constructed in rights-of-way, it will be necessary to negotiate agreements with property owners for payment of damage to crops, trees and structures during construction. Construction of these sewers shall be in such a manner that they shall not subsequently interfere with irrigation, cultivation or other farming operations.

The value of bonds to be voted on at the special November 8 election will be $1,640,000. On the basis of an increase in population of fifty percent during the life of the bonds the average tax rate required to retire these bonds will be less than fifteen cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation of real property. The tax rate for the first year will be approximately twenty-five cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation of real property. The bonds will be sold only as needed for construction costs.

Only those owning property within the Santa Clara County Sanitation District No. 4 will vote on the coming bond issue and only property within the District will be taxed for the construction or maintenance of the trunk sewer lines.

Collection sewers will be constructed only where requested by owners of the property to be benefited. Construction of collection sewers under assessment proceedings requires the approval of the owners of more than fifty per cent of the property benefited by the sewer. Recent experience indicates that the cost of collection sewers under assessment proceedings will be from $1.25 to $2.00 per front foot of property served on relatively flat subdivided areas. In hilly areas the costs will be necessarily greater.

In addition to the average fifteen cent tax per hundred dollars of assessed value of real property, each residence which is connected to the sewer will be assessed fifty cents per month or $6.00 per year. This amount will be sufficient to provide for financing construction of the sewage treatment works and all other costs for administration, maintenance and operation of the District.

The city of San Jose will contribute the greatest load to the treatment works; it own the main trunk sewer and the recommended plant site. It is therefore reasonable to assume that the City of San Jose should be the agency designated to construct and operate the sewage treatment facilities.

The present drought condition emphasizes the necessity for conservation of water in the Santa Clara Valley. Therefore consideration has been given to construction of a sewage treatment plant within the proposed Sanitation District in order to use the reclaimed water for agricultural purposes. Lack of a treatment plant site with adequate isolation from habitation, the necessity for pumping a portion of the sewage to a higher elevation, the prohibitive unit cost for treatment and the cost of facilities for utilization of this water on a twenty-four hour basis the year around makes such a solution uneconomical. On the other hand it appears both feasible and economical to construct facilities to utilize the large volume of water which will be available at the central sewage treatment plant for agricultural purposes and to replenish the ground water supply. Development of the Reber Plan which would transform parts of San Francisco Bay into a fresh water lake would provide a natural storage basin which would lessen the cost of utilization of the reclaimed water. It would also provide for further conservation of the water by permitting appropriate timing in irrigation of orchard lands. In response to the request of the Campbell Sanitary District and the Town of Los Gatos the directors of the Santa Clara County Water Conservation District have directed the Chief Engineer of that district to make a thorough sudy and reoprt on the economics of the use of the water which may be reclaimed at the proposed central sewage treatment plant.

The work to be done shall conform in all respects to the best standards of modern design. All materials shall conform to the specifications for their respective kinds as adopted by the American Society for Testing Materials. Workmanship and construction methods shall conform to applicable sections of the Standard Specifications of the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works, State of California. The work will be divided into units and put out for bids to such firms as are capable of handling this type of construction. It is estimated that the construction period will be about one year.

County One Of 45 To Show Decrease In Tax Rate

Santa Clara County is one of 45 in California which shows a decrease in county tax rate for general purposes adopted for 1949-50, California Taxpayers' association reported today. Drop in county general purposes rate inside municipalities is 7 cents when 1949-50 is compared with 1948-49.

Five counties in the state showed no change and eight showed an increase in tax rate for general county purposes for 1949-50 compared with 1948-49.

The county-wide rate for 1949-50 for general purposes is $1.86, compared with a rate of $1.93 for 1948-49, in Santa Clara county.

The final county tax rate is the result of a number of increases and decreases in the parts of the rate for the different county funds, the Taxpayers' assiciation said.

"The shift in aged and blind aid to the state, resulting from the passage of Prop. No. 4 at last year's general election, caused state taxes to go up this year," the Taxpayers' association said.

Companion Denied Donaldson Estate Claim Of $2190

Mrs. Nellie Riley, 81 E. Campbell Avenue, Campbell, was denied her claim for $2190 against the estate of Miss Viola Donaldson for seven months' service as a companion. Ruling was handed down Wednesday by Superior Judge M. G. Del Mutolo. Miss Donaldson, a retired school teacher, died last April 2. Her estate was valued at about $5000.

Judge Del Mutolo ruled that free rent, free groceries and freedom to come and go was sufficient compensation for Mrs. Riley, and that she had failed to substantiate her claim by independent testimony.

According to the claimant, Miss Donaldson had invited her, seven months before her death, to live with her, and had agreed to leave Mrs. Riley her house after her death. Mrs. Riley said she moved in the next day and cared for Miss Donaldson. After the retired school teacher died, no will bequeathing Mrs. Riley the house was to be found.

Neighbors of Miss Donaldson said Mrs. Riley had moved in without promise of compensation, that Mrs. Riley had lived off the bounty of the decedent and had invited a male friend to live in the house. Claimant denied the statements.

Attorney Martin S. Walsh of Campbell represented Public Administrator Thomas F. Kilmartin.

Rodeo Finals At Cow Palace Start October 28

Nursing the aches and sprains accumulated in a nine-months circuit of major rodeos, America's top cowhands are approaching the season's climax at the Grand National in a series of closely bunched contests.

Six rodeo championships and a list of rich prizes, worth more than $25,000, including entry fees, will be determined at the finals of the International Rodeo Association during the 14 performances on San Francisco's Cow Palace arena tanbark, starting October 28, secretary-manager Carl L. Garrison announced today.

Current point total scores reveals a new contender for the coveted All-Around Cowboy championship rivaling Gene Rambo, 1948 champion and now leading the field. He is Jim Shoulders who moved into second place by virtue of several spectacular wins in the Brahma bull riding event.

Shoulders, who leads the bareback bronc riders, moved past Harry Tompkins to take the lead in the Brahma bull ride.

Rambo, who has been scoring well in three events, moved up to take over first place in a fourth event, steer wrestling, as he gained a slight lead over Barney Willis, ex-USC college sprinter.

Other close contests find Homer Pettigrew, several times titlist in the calf roping contest, in an all-out battle with Chuck Sheppard and Casey Tibbs, saddle bronc leader, fighting off a last-minute rush by Bud Linderman.

Rodeo fans who have thrilled at the arena performances of these Cow Palace favorites will see all of them, plus nearly 150 other top rodeo riders and ropers, when the IRA finals are contested during the 14 evening and matinee shows of this year's Grand National.

Benson's Display Aids PTA Drive

Benson's Campbell Cleaners on Campbell Avenue have added their unsolicited support to the current Parent-Teacher Association membership drive by dedicating their window display during October to a beautiful exhibit on the PTA theme.

Bill Reilly of Allied Store Fixtures executed the window arrangement which features a 54-inch gold and blue oak leaf PTA president's pin with log chain and lapel button. Reilly had to use a microscope to make an accurate sketch of the pin design.

Fall colors are employed in the window display which includes a large gold paper scroll bearing the PTA objectives in black print.

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California).

Even as the Nation rode the crest of the postwar boom years, most of us were conscious of a sense of foreboding—a feeling that it was all too good to be permanently true, a recognition of a fundamental law of physics that what goes up must come down.

In short, the remembrance of the depression ridden Thirties was too vivid to enable most Americans to escape the gnawing fear that the "bust" end of the traditional boom-bust cycle would inevitably put in its appearance.

After several months of leveling off, disinflation, recession, or whatever one's favorite economist chooses to call it, the downward trend in the Nation's economy seems to be arrested. But have we arrived at a permanent resting place on a slightly lower "business plateau," or is business merely pausing before taking the fatal plunge?

The financial editor of a national publication, Harold Fleming in the Christian Science Monitor, cites six reasons why prices have leveled off. They are:

1. The running down of inventories as production has been cut below consumption.

2. Production slowdowns due to union policies and resistance to wage cuts.

3. Federal Reserve easy-money policies.

4. Crop price support.

5. Industrial resistance to price slashing.

6. Return to federal budget deficits.

The first three conditions, the financial writer points out, have not stopped major depressions in the past. Lowering of inventories and cutting down of production, in 1920 and 1930, were important phases of the "retrenchment" process which fed the depression flames. And an easy-money policy to encourage business borrowing, when adopted before, never proved to be a big enough thumb to plug the hole in the dike.

But the last three conditions, the writer contends, represent a revolutionary change for pre-New Deal thinking. The change, in his opinion, is "from an economically arrived at market price to a socially conceived 'fair price'." In other words, the old concept that goods and services must be sold for what they would bring has given way to a new concept that they should be sold only for what they are "worth," or otherwise not sold or produced at all.

Under this new concept, coal isn't mined in excess of immediate market requirements. Even if it means strikes or shutdowns, union labor isn't provided at cut rates. Unless they can be sold at a "fair price," the growing of crops is restricted. Mills and factories will not produce goods in excess of what can be sold at an immediate profit.

What the new concept leads to, of course, is curtailment of production. Congress encourages it by crop restriction, unions by three-day weeks and strikes, business management by shutdowns to adjust production downward. And the whole deflationary process is underwritten by deficit financing on the part of Government.

But — and here Mr. Fleming poses a paradox—isn't the curtailment of production the identical result of old-fashioned depressions?

In the early thirties factories shout down, farmers left the fruit on the trees and quit planting six-cent cotton, and wage earners were subjected to enforced idleness. Eventually the entire economy went through the wringer before bottom was reached and the cycle started once again on an upward trend.

Mr. Fleming concludes: "What was once considered the outstanding economic 'sin' of capitalism—the cutting of production — has now in effect been socialized and is practised by governments and labor unions as well as by industrial managements. The latter are pushed toward it even more rapidly by the rigidity introduced into their costs by government and union policies. The effect might well be to bring the country's production to a standstill even more rapidly than before, as the machinery of curtailment as well as of production has been more highly organized."

Perhaps the rules have been changed, but the basic principles of economics have not. We may, because of Givernment intervention, avoid a sharp and sudden depression. The old boom-and-bust cycle may be a thing of the past. But curtailment of production, whether under Government auspices or as the natural result of business fluctuation, means a shortage of material things and a lowering of living standards.

Eventually, old fashioned depressions came to an end. The danger in a government-managed depression is that it could be permanent for, to keep it in control, government of necessity would be obligated constantly to increase its powers and expand its functions. The inevitable result, as in England or Russia, is rationed scarcity and permanent poverty.
